Hard Schedule Faces Bearcats

Football Team Will Renew M. I. A. A. Rivalries and Meet Several New Teams.

The Bearcat football schedule for this season has been announced as follows:

*Sept. 25.—Peru Teachers College at Maryville.

Oct. 2.—Open.

Oct. 9.—Springfield Bears at Maryville.

Oct. 16.—Cape Girardeau at Cape Girardeau.

Oct. 23.—Rolla Miners at Maryville.

Oct. 30.—Missouri University "B" team at Maryville.

Nov. 6.—Tarkio at Tarkio.

Nov. 11.—Kirksville Bulldogs at Maryville.

Nov. 20.—St. Benedicts at Atchison.

Nov. 26.—Warrensburg Mules at Warrensburg.

The games starred will be played at night.

It will be noted that the Peru Teachers of Peru, Neb., who defeated the Maryville Bearcats last year by two touchdowns, will invade the Bearcat lair here in just a few days for the opening game of the season, the night of September 25. If Coach Davis with his new team can turn the tables on these husky Nebraska boys it will indeed be a nice victory and a good send-off for the season.

Face Rolla Miners.

There will probably be a hot time in the old town, the night the Rolla Miners come to Maryville on October 23. These boys ran over the Bearcats to pile up quite a score year before last when the Maryville teachers visited them at Rolla, and the Bearcats will no doubt be interested in evening up the score.

There will probably be plenty of static and growing in the air on October 30 when the Missouri Tiger "B" team comes pounding on the new Bearcat field. These boys fresh from the Tiger lair at Old "Mizzo" will undoubtedly uncork some thrills when they tangle with the Bearcats who will be looking for big game.

Bears Will Seek Revenge.

The Bears from Springfield smarting under their 26 to 7 defeat, on their new field, at the hands of the Bearcats, last year, will be full of winning psychology and the Bearcat coaches and team know that there will be something going on just as soon as the whistle blows, down on the football field on the night of October 9.

No one knows just what may happen to the Bearcats when they go down to Cape Girardeau, for a game there on October 16. Certainly those teachers there will not have to review very hard to remember what happened to the Indians here last year. No one knows just what a review of that defeat may mean to the Cape Teachers but the Bearcats are being warned even at this early date to sharpen their claws. If the writer remembers correctly the St. Benedicts boys at Atchison will be trying to add a little color to their record of entanglements with the Bearcats and may give them a hot reception when the Bearcats arrive there on November 20.

The Bearcats will renew acquaintances with the Tarkio College athletes at Tarkio on November 6. The Tarkio teams in times past have always proved themselves worthy rivals for athletic honors in all the sports and the Bearcats are looking forward to a healthy tussle with their neighbors on the west.

On the afternoon of November 11 at the new football field in Maryville the Bearcats will try to break the winning streak of the Kirksville Bulldogs. The Bearcats are hoping that the weather will be warm since cold weather seems to agree with the Bulldogs according to the results of the last two games with them, which were played in terribly cold and disagreeable weather.

Down deep in their hearts every day the Bearcats will be practicing "Gee" and "How" and thinking of other terms and tricks which are supposed to work on the Warrensburg Mules when they meet them down on their farm for the final game of the season on November 26.

Let's have a championship. Boom! Boom.

MISS MARIE BLUEL RETURNS

A. H. Cooper's Secretary Begins Eighth Year at College

Miss Marie Bluell is back at her tasks in the education office as secretary to Mr. Cooper head of the extension department. This makes Miss Bluell's eighth year of service to the College in this capacity. Miss Grace Carter of Ridgeway, has been helping in the office in the absence of Miss Bluell who was away during the summer. Miss Carter also worked during the holidays in August and will be on duty again this year.

Odd Activities of Athletic Fish Cause Excitement

U. G. Whiffen, who is quite handily settled in his new manual arts building down by the power plant, recently spent a few days vacation fishing on the lakes in Wisconsin. He tells quite a ferocious fish story of how he and his guide were fishing one day and the guide caught a big fish. He drew it to the boat, shot it and then the fish came to life the moment it landed in the boat and caught the guide on the hook.

From here on in the story Mr. Whiffen became the hero by being first aid man, taming the fish and performing a surgical operation with his pocket-knife in order to free the guide from the hook.

Mr. Whiffen refuses to go on with the story, refusing to intimate whether the fish threw them into the lake or shoved the boat back to the shore.

College Brevities

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schowengerdt and daughter spent a few days in August at Mr. Schowengerdt's home at Independence, Mo., near Kansas City, and it Mrs. Schowengerdt's home in Kansas City, Kan. Mr. Schowengerdt is an instructor in agriculture at the College.

Hitch-Hike to College.
Charles and Russell Huxley, of Secretary, Md., left their home in Maryland Tuesday morning, Sept. 8, and hitch-hiked to the College here in Maryville, arriving here Friday night at 8:30.

The boys have been attending the Junior College at New Windsor, Md. They became interested in the College through Orville E. Fugate, who is a teacher of commerce and Dean of men at the Junior College in New Windsor. It seems that Orville is making good in his work there in Maryland. He will be remembered as the boy who purchased the old college motorcycle to make the trip to Maryland.

Charles E. Gardner, chairman of the music department, and Mr. H. T. Phillips, chairman of the education department of the college spent some of their vacation in Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan and other eastern states. Mr. Gardner's home is in Kentucky.

Miss Chloe Millikan, chairman of the kindergarten and primary department of the College spent most of her vacation in August at various points in Missouri.

The Southwest Standard, official publication of the Southwest Missouri State Teachers College located at Springfield, carried a story of considerable length in the July 30 issue, which gave a general survey of the origin and growth of that college.

Roy A. Kinnaird, chairman of the agriculture department at the College spent the summer in advance graduate study at the Iowa State College, at Ames, Ia.

Miss Estelle Bowman, instructor in English and Miss Dora B. Smith, training school instructor at the College have been in Europe this summer traveling and studying.

Hubert Garrett and L. G. Somerville attended the conference called by the State Superintendent of Schools, at Jefferson City, Sept. 4 and 5. The meeting was called in the interest of the new school bill.

Miss Ruth Morris takes the place of Miss Helen Dvorak, violin instructor, who has resigned to continue her studies in New York. Miss Morris holds a diploma as concert violinist "with great distinction" from the Cincinnati College of Music. She also holds from the same institution a post-graduate medal and a bachelor of music degree. She has had ten years of study with Adolf Hohn in Cincinnati, O., also with Remy, Paschal, and Boulanger at Fontainebleau, France.

Revised Rulings Made by Cabinet Go Into Effect; Plan to Form Quartet.

Activities of the Student Y. M. C. A. proposed late last spring by the cabinet of officers and sponsors, and favorably accepted by the organization, will be started this fall. New rulings regarding membership and attendance go into effect this month.

The Gospel Team work will be continued on the basis of one trip a month, giving one service in the morning and one at night. The "Y" is interested in getting as many freshmen as possible affiliated with this type of work.

The cabinet's recommendations favor the holding of the second international fellowship banquet sometime this fall or early in the winter.

Although the Y. M. C. A. quartet has lost two of its members, Ben Thompson, and William Alsop, both of whom have graduated, it is the plan to organize another quartet with Albert Hagan and Owen Thompson taking charge.

The organization has agreed to make contributions to both the state committee and the national field work.

The Student Y. M. C. A. is interested in acting as host to the 1932 state convention of Y. M. C. A. workers, held in some Missouri city every spring.

During the next year the student association will place stress on subjects of internationalism, will establish an international correspondence with foreign students, and build its programs around current social subjects.

Officers and sponsors for 1931-32 are: President, George Walter Allen; vice-president, Norman Clough; secretary, Glen Duncan; treasurer, Albert Hagan.

Sponsors: O. Myking Mehus, Stephen G. LaMar. A third sponsor, succeeding A. J. Caulfield, on leave of absence from the College, is to be elected.

Speech Department Is Broadening Its Scope of Activity

The Department of Speech is broadening the scope of its activities for the Fall quarter. A full evening play will be sent on tour during the eighth week of the quarter. This will be an integral part of the course in Theatre Art and Play Production. The class in Theatre Art will also present an evening of one-act plays, which will be sent out separately on tour over weekends in the winter quarter.

Other courses besides Theatre Art offered this fall by the speech department are Play Production. A morning and an afternoon section of Fundamentals of Speech. Edith credit-bearing intracurricular activity, the Radio Broadcast Club is to be organized for those interested in development of the speaking voice with a view to participating in the radio broadcast of programs to be put on the air by the Department Speech this year. The Forensic Union and Dramatic Club each plan extensive programs which according to the Councils, are "to be new and different in many respects from former years."

Many inquiries from students who plan to major in speech have been received by the chairman of the department, Orville C. Miller. All who have questions concerning the work of this department should see Mr. Miller.

Wilbur B. Pettigrew, a major in speech, is now teaching speech and director of debate activities in the high school of Shenandoah, Iowa.

Needed More Catalogs.
The demand for the new Catalog this year was so heavy that President Lamkin has had to get out several hundred supplement catalogs.

Miss Helen Tehow and Vernon "Shorty" Barrett will teach in St. Louis again this year.

Students May Go on Tour of South

Educational All-Expense Trip to Start Dec. 26 Planned; Will Cost About $100.

Students at the College this year will have an unusual opportunity to see the southeast portion of the United States in an economical, educational, all-expense railroad tour to Florida.

In keeping with his usual keen interest in the welfare and educational opportunities offered the students who are in the College President Lamkin has arranged for students who care to do so to greatly add to the fullness of their year of training here at the College by getting in several thousand miles of inexpensive travel of a highly educational nature.

The proposed ten-day trip will probably start December 26, and as temporarily planned, will take the students through a portion of the following states: Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Florida, North and South Carolina and Kentucky.

To Visit Florida.

The group will assemble at Kansas City or other convenient points and go from there to Memphis, Tenn., thence to Birmingham, Ala., Atlanta, Ga., and on to Jacksonville, Fla. From Jacksonville on the eastern U. S. coast the tour will lead across Florida west to Tampa and other points on the western coast, thence across the state to the southeastern coast, to Palm Beach, Hollywood and various places on the coast and then back north to Jacksonville.

The return trip from Jacksonville will be over a different and historic route to Savannah, Ga., through the Carolinas, to Chattanooga, Tenn., and other interesting places in Tennessee and Kentucky, and back to Kansas City.

E. G. Baker, assistant general passenger agent of the St. Louis-San Francisco railway company, together with Mitchell Cowell, district passenger agent of the Southern Railway system and Marc A. Glover, traveling passenger agent of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co., recently conferred with President Lamkin in his office at the College concerning the trip.

Will Cost About $100.
While the exact cost of the trip to the student has not been definitely decided upon since it has to be taken up with the state offices it will be approximately $100, this to include the transportation and pullman to and from Florida and more than 1000 miles in that state and all meals, tips and other expenses.

Arrangements are underway to include groups of students from other neighboring Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska colleges.

Faculty members, college graduates and former students of the College, high school faculty members and other people from Maryville and other towns will also be welcome to make the trip with the group.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Young Will Return to Iowa U.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Young, graduates of the college in 1925 and 1927, will return to Iowa City, to attend the University of Iowa this year. They have their M. A. degrees from the school there and Mr. Young hopes to finish his Ph. D. degree, there this year.

Mr. Young's thesis will be a book on arithmetic. The Tulsa Oklahoma school system is cooperating with him in printing the thesis and trying it out in classes there.

Mr. and Mrs. Young formerly taught at Spickard where Mr. Young was superintendent of the schools.

Mr. Young's home is at Guilford while Mrs. Young's home is at King City, Mo. Both Mr. and Mrs. Young were active here in College and outstanding students.

Dr. H. A. Foster Completes Manuscript of His Thesis

Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Foster returned from Chicago Tuesday night, Sept. 8. Dr. Foster has been working on his thesis for his Ph. D. degree during the summer.

Mr. Foster reports that he finished the manuscript for the thesis and since he was so busy doing this he didn't have time to play around.

Mr. Foster has been in Maryville taking care of the home during the greater part of the summer.

While in Chicago Dr. Foster met Floyd Holmes a former M. S. T. O. student, who is now working on his Ph. D. Degree at the University of Chicago. Mr. Holmes is now married and last year taught at the Lewis Institute in Chicago.

Mr. Leslie G. Somerville, of the College faculty will teach extension classes in Mercer, Davless, Buchanan and Holt counties during this college year.

Big Sister Party Will Be Given by Y. W. This Week

The Y. W. C. A. one of the largest and most active girls' organization on the campus is inviting all freshmen girls to attend the annual Big Sister Party, which is to be held Thursday evening September 17, at 8 o'clock, in Social Hall. This Hall is located at the east end of the corridor on second floor of the administration building.

Gladys Cooper of Denver, Colorado, is president of the Y. W. C. A. Faye Sutton is in charge of arrangements for the welcoming party. She is being assisted by Lucille Leeson, Elizabeth Edwards and other girls active in the organization.

Miss Olive DeLuce, Miss Dora B. Smith and Miss Lucille Brumbaugh are the faculty sponsors of the organization. Last year the girls arranged one of the cabins in the College park for good times parties. Among other attractions the cabin has a hardwood floor and a fire place in it.

STROLLER

If your appetite isn't functioning just right go in and get President Lamkin to name over just the first course or two of some of the meals he had recently when he was on a little vacation trip down in the Ozarks.

Wilbur "Sparkle" Stalcup, of Oregon all-round senior athlete, tried his hand at cooking for the football camp held the week before the opening of the fall term. Some of the boys said that Sparkle did pretty well for the first time. Stalcup plays end position in football, guard in basketball and does the broad-jump in track. He was the winner of the Horace Leech medal for athletic ability, scholarship and service last year. He was also president of the Junior class.

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be . . .

This saying is made somewhere on the College campus. The Stroller was going to offer a cash prize for the freshman who could locate it and also give the next line which follows the two given above, but on account of the hard times has decided to just let them guess for fun. A tip however may be found in the next sentence. In order not to get too speedy in these fast times, check your watches with the radio and also with the sundial on the campus.

Taught in Montana
Donald "Dixie" Davenport, former Bearcat track star was instructor in manual arts this summer at the College at Dillon, Mont. Mr. Davenport is teacher and coach of athletics in the high school at Sedalia.

Visits College
Miss Louise Freeman a graduate of the College who is now Registrar at the Teachers College, at Dillon, Montana, was a recent visitor at the College. Miss Freeman's home is at Trenton.

Sometimes a most unpleasant task becomes even interesting when our attitude takes the proper turn.

There are those of us who are always looking at the other fellow's work, position, or opportunities, and thinking that he is so much better off than we are. Perhaps if we would take more than just the first look and really analyze the other fellow's responsibilities and tasks, his field would not look so inviting to us.

CHOOSING FRIENDS

In one sense we do not choose our friends because we cannot be friends with those persons who do not care to be friendly with us; but in another sense we do choose them because we strive to be agreeable to those whom we like and thus win their friendship.

What kind of friends shall we choose? Our friendships will bring us more pleasure if we select those persons who are interested in the same things in which we are interested. Our association with them will not be lasting unless our friends have high ideals of loyalty and fairness. A true friendship never demands but realizes that the right of the individual to develop independently enhances friendship rather than destroys it. But the most important thing is to choose and to keep for our friends those persons whose influence will cause us to hold to our highest ideals and strive for worthwhile accomplishments.

The choice of friends is very important in College life where the wrong kind of association may cause one to be led into situations and to form habits which may damage character permanently.

Go ahead and do your work yourself. Don't be continually asking someone else to show you or help you. He who leans upon another warps his own strength. And, he who reaches the highest place or mark, upon his own and noblest strength must stand.

Don't be continually complaining about something. Try to see something or find something about your work or study that suits you or that is O. K.

"PERSONAL MAID"

Another Former Wife of Murderous Mail Order Romeo Found

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—(P)—Newspaper pictures of Harry F. Powers, confessed slayer of two women and three children at Clarksburg, W. Va., were identified today by Mrs. Allie Province, middle-aged widow of St. Louis, as those of "Joseph F. Gildaw," whom she was to have married on Thanksgiving Day in 1924.

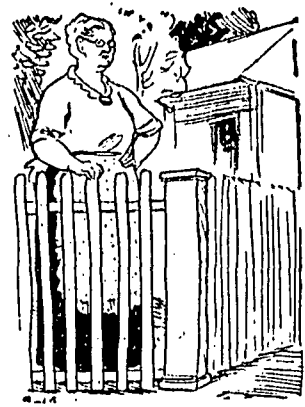

Instead of marrying her however, "Gildaw" disappeared, she said, with her jewelry, valued chiefly as heirlooms, and later defrauded her of a 35 acre farm near Farmington, Mo., by forging her name to a deed. She valued the land at $1,500. Mrs. Province says "Gildaw" came here after they corresponded with each other when she saw a description of him in a "Friendship Society" paper. It was through "Friendship" and "matrimonial" publications that Powers met the women he killed.

"Gildaw" courted Mrs. Province as an auditor and harvesting-machine salesman and said he had farm lands in Iowa, she said. Mrs. Province said he was quiet and refined, and "seemed such a gentleman," but she grew suspicious when she saw he had a collection of ladies' breast pins stuck in the lining of the top of his car and a woman's shawl in the seat. Mrs. Province said "Gildaw" left after "putting something in my coffee that dazed me." When he left he took his photograph and letters he had written her with him, Mrs. Province said.

Remnants of G. A. R. Hold Encampment in Des Moines

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 15.—(P)—Shuffling of step, gray-haired and wrinkled old gentlemen with a reminiscent twinkle in their eyes regaled each other with tales of '61 here today.
Scarcely 2,000 of them, the remnants of the Grand Army of the Republic that was 400,000 strong, they clasped eagerly the gnarled hands of old comrades at their encampment.
Always it was of yesterday they talked. True, officers must be selected during the business sessions which began yesterday, and a city named for the encampment next year, but thoughts dwelt mainly on days gone by.

Spoofhound Grid Candidates Will Scrimmage Today

Squad Has Been Divided in Two Teams of About Equal Strength.

With two weeks of practice behind them, and almost as many more yet to come before the first game of the season, the Maryville high school Spoofhound football team is beginning to take shape. Coach Wallace Croy said this morning that he would hold his first scrimmage of the year about 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Yesterday the squad worked in the gymnasium. The football rules were studied over and explained by Coach Croy and Coach Bill Smith. All studied the plays outlined to them by the high school mentors.

This afternoon from 3:30 o'clock until 5 o'clock the squad will work in groups. The centers will work on passing the ball, blocking and tackling. The guards will work together on pulling out of the line, blocking and tackling, and the tackles and ends will work on blocking and tackling. Coach Croy will have charge of this group. Coach Smith will have the backfield men in his charge.

At 5 o'clock two teams will scrimmage in two twelve-minute halves. The squad has been divided into two teams, one of which has the strongest line, and the other the strongest backfield. On one team will be Allan Short and George Cockayne at ends, Jim Kissinger and Dean Miller at tackles, George Bell and George Nelson at guards, Norman Jones at center, and "Irish" Garten, Elbert Barrett, Carl Melton and Edgar Miller in the backfield.

On the other team Hazelwood and Marvin Seyster will be the ends, Reynolds and Barrock tackles, Culver and Wade guards, Campbell center, and Leo Donahue, "Buck" Schmidt, Jack Chick and Harlan Farrar in the backfield.

Coach Croy said that the first game of the season for the Spoofhounds with Albany would be played Saturday of next week, so as not to conflict with the opening for the Bears. The game scheduled with Savannah to be played here on October 30, has been set forward one day to the 29th so as not to be played on the same day the Bears meet the University of Missouri "B" team.

Jack Dempsey Knocks Out Two Men in Quick Order

Salt Lake City, Sept. 15.—(P)—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, knocked out two of four opponents in a boxing exhibition last night.

Jack Silvers, 210, Chicago, lasted only 40 seconds, going down with a hard right to the chin. Bill Longson, 190, Salt Lake City, lasted 2½ minutes. Dempsey knocked him out with a series of body and head punches.

Del Baxter, 196, Cornish, Utah, went two rounds, Jack toying with his opponent. Tony Clawson, 195, Salt Lake City, also boxed one round with the erstwhile mauler. Clawson cuffed Dempsey with several head blows, but failed to hurt him.

Cardinals and Browns Will Play For Charity

St. Louis, Sept. 14.—(P)—The champion Cardinals of the National and the Browns of the American League, St. Louis' representatives in the major leagues, will meet in a game at Sportsman's Park Thursday of next week, Sept. 24, for the benefit of the city's unemployed.

Announcement that the game would be played for charity was made last night following the return to St. Louis last night of Tom K. Smith, general chairman of the Citizens' Committee on relief and unemployment.

MAY OUST FESS.

Walter Brown of Ohio, the postmaster general, is among the more prominent of those recommended to Mr. Hoover by party workers as a successor to Senator Fess, of Ohio, as chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Cardinals Reach Height of Power at Right Time

National League Champs Have Won Ten Out of 11 Last Games.

By the Associated Press

If ever a club reached the absolute peak of strength at exactly the right time, it is the St. Louis Cardinals. Right now, with the world series a fortnight away, Gabby Street's nine appears just to be realizing its fullest power. The Red Birds look more impressive every day.

In sweeping ten of their last eleven games, the National League kings have been hitting at their greatest clip of the year, fairly murdering any kind of pitching sent against them, and their own mound staff virtually has been unbeatable. Only one Card curver has failed to go the route in eleven starts and they have registered four shutouts, two of them by Sylvester Johnson.

Win Doubleheader.

Evidently remembering too well what happened to his club in the 1930 series, when a series of timely wallpops by Jimmy Fox, Al Simmons, et al, of the Athletics upset all his strategy, Street has his men swinging from their heels in preparation for the coming classic. They were swinging yesterday, at least, as they took their second doubleheader from the Phils in two days by scores of 13 to 5 and 10 to 3. Of the 32 hits collected by the Birds, eleven were of the extra base variety, including a couple of home runs and three doubles by Chick Hafey. Jim Bottomley, the rejuvenated first baseman, contributed two doubles and three singles to the day's attack. Every regular, outside of the battery, got at least one hit in both games. Although hit hard, neither Stout or Rhem had any difficulty going the route.

The leaders were credited with the day's only victories in the National League, rain causing postponement of a scheduled tilt between Brooklyn and Pittsburgh.

Yanks Beat Detroit.

The New York Yankees gave the day's feature exhibition in the American when they found four hits off Vic Sorrell sufficient for a 2 to 1 triumph over Detroit.

Cleveland and Philadelphia broke even, Willis Hudlin settling the champions down, 6 to 2 in the first, and Waite Hoyt, with some last-inning help from Barnshaw, beating the Indians, 9 to 7, in the nightcap.

Washington maintained its two-game lead over the third place Yankees by setting down the St. Louis Browns to four hits, none after the fourth inning. The Senators bunched their nine off Walt Stewart in four frames to win 6 to 3. Fred Schulte's homerun supplied one of the losers' runs.

The Boston Red Sox rallied to score ten runs in their last two times at bat and beat the Chicago White Sox, 12 to 8.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Suicide Attempt Succeeds Upon Receipt of Grim Note

San Francisco, Sept. 15.—(P)—Up until Leo V. Dowling, who slashed his wrists and throat a few days ago, received a large horseshoe of flowers—the kind frequently seen at funerals—doctors said he had an even chance for recovery.

"Flowers for you, Mr. Dowling," said the hospital nurse as she brought in the box. Dowling smiled and, opening the card which accompanied them, read: "Better luck next time."

He gasped and fell back. A few hours later he died.
The test at death will be investigated at an inquest with a view to locating the sender of the flowers, authorities said they knew the shop from which the flowers were sent and they have the handwriting sample on the card. California law prescribes a penalty for one who "urges another to suicide."

Washington, Sept. 15.—(P)—President Hoover moved today to increase the spread of home building and home ownership in the United States, calling a conference of 1,000 citizens from the 48 states to meet on this subject here from December 2 to 5.

Daily Bible Thought

THE FOUNTAIN OF PRAISE: O Lord, open thou my lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise. For thou desirest not sacrifice; I would I give it.—Psalm 151: 15, 16.

The Maryville Daily Forum is introducing a new department today. To the regular readers it will be found on the back page and we believe that it will be of interest to all our readers.

Through an arrangement made with the Northwest Missouri Teachers College, The Forum begins today to print the weekly editions of The Northwest Missourian, the official newspaper of the College and The Missourian news goes out to all of the subscribers of The Forum as well as to every student of the Teachers College. The Missourian will be included in the regular edition of The Forum each Tuesday of the College year.

It does look as though colleges are popularizing colleges or else the papers are making a big success of popularizing athletics. For two days the fact that a football player won't be able to go to school this fall has taken front page space in a city paper in this state.

How would you like to be the executor of the Payne Whitney estate? The executors and trustees get a mere sum of $9,000,000 which in itself would be quite a sizeable estate.

In spite of his gifts, some mounting to the millions in a lump sum, Payne Whitney left an estate of $239,301,107, according to the valuation of the estate just filed. The immensity of the estate left New Yorkers gasping, and they are not accustomed to be flabbergasted. The size of the estate would startle most anyone, and it was the largest in the history of America.

The estate itself of its own accord increased in value over $50,000,000 in two years, showing that once a large fortune is amassed they roll up larger and larger. The estate fared well when the government and various states began cutting their shares, as only twenty-three millions were sliced off for inheritance and estate taxes.

If the estate had been probated in Missouri, the Show-Me state would have gotten along beautifully, as when estates of $400,000 are left the state gets an inheritance tax of 30 per cent.

How to train BABY'S BOWELS

Babies, bottle-fed or breast-fed, with any tendency to be constipated, would thrive if they received daily, half a teaspoonful of this old family doctor's prescription for the bowels.

That is one sure way to train tiny bowels to healthy regularity. To avoid the fretfulness, vomiting, crying, failure to gain, and other ills of constipated babies.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. For this, you have the word of a famous doctor. Forty-seven years of practice taught him just what babies need to keep their little bowels active, regular; keep little bodies plump and healthy. For Dr. Caldwell specialized in the treatment of women and little ones. He attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby.

Everything comes to him who waits except, of course, Prosperity.

A political writer attributes England's newest crisis to spendthrift methods. And the irony of it is the government is headed by a Scotchman.

deducting exemptions which in this case wouldn't run over $35,000. Of course, Mr. Whitney had fifteen and a half millions invested in Liberty bonds which are tax exempt.

At a time like this when there are so many who have lost out in the depression and there are so many unemployed, it seems deplorable that some people can be so wealthy while there are thousands in dire need.

To prohibit persons from acquiring estates over a fixed amount would be contrary to the principles of our government, the right of freedom and to acquire property. Yet it is true in many instances huge fortunes are amassed in disrespect to the laws, as when some men become so powerful a mere law such as the anti-trust law is winked at and nothing is done. One of the reasons for the depression is that a great percentage of the money of the country is going into too few channels.

If the wealthy are able to accumulate immense estates they should be willing to pay their proportionate share of the governmental costs and the inheritance tax on the Whitney estate was a mere pittance in comparison to its size.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

A REAL BUDGET NEEDED

Jefferson City Post-Tribune
In most of the states of the Union there is a pronounced movement at the present time to reduce the cost of government and all of these movements center around a budget system. Several attempts have been made to provide an effective budget system in Missouri, but thus far only partial success has been realized. The last attempt made the state Tax Commission the budget board, but the legislature failed to provide this board with the necessary power. It may suggest economies but it has no power to enforce them. The legislature has persistently refused to respect it and has adhered to its constitutional power to appropriate state money at its own pleasure.

The refusal of the legislature to respect the recommendation of the budget board results in extravagant appropriation of the state revenue. In the last session of the Assembly the appropriations exceeded the anticipated revenue by over six million dollars, and then it is hoped that the Governor, by means of the veto, will straighten out the state's financial tangle. But the veto has its limitations. As a cure for over-appropriation it is difficult, if not impossible, to cut down the appropriations because of the form in which they are framed. Instead of appropriating money to an institution, or a department in separate items, the whole expense of an institution or department is embodied in one item or a few large items. This makes it necessary for the governor to veto the entire appropriation or to allow it all.

But the governor must cut down the appropriations of the legislature and the very form in which the legislature appropriates makes it necessary for the governor to cripple some institutions and departments. Following the last session the chief executive had to cut off six million dollars, or about one-fourth, of the available revenue. In order to accomplish this he had to veto large amounts in one item. If the legislature had divided the appropriation for an institution into a number of smaller items, the governor could have cut off the least needed items and left those that are necessary.

In order to provide a budget system for Missouri a constitutional amendment is necessary, and the governor favors such an amendment. No doubt the legislature would be hostile to such an amendment, as it would limit its power, but we believe it would meet with the approval of the people. Certainly, there must be some restriction as to the expenditure of the state's money. Under the present system the governor finally becomes the budget officer, and every possible effort is made to tie his hands in the final distribution of funds. Possibly no more forceful argument

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

Author of "MAD MARRIAGE"

BEGIN HERE TODAY

NORMA KENT, pretty 20-year-old secretary, is employed in a law office in Marlboro, middlewestern metropolis. On her way to keep a dinner engagement with BOB FARRELL, young lawyer, Norma sees a puppy in peril of its life in the midst of downtown traffic. A stranger rescues the dog and brings it to the girl. The stranger is good looking, well dressed and introduces himself as MARK TRAVERS. Norma refuses to tell him her name or where he can see her again.

She takes the puppy with her and meets Bob. They buy a collar and leash for the dog and then dine at a favorite restaurant. For the third time Farrell asks her to marry him. Norma refuses, saying she wants to keep their association on the basis of friendship instead of love. When she reaches the shabby apartment she shares with CHRISTINE SAUNDERS, generally called "CHRIS," she finds her roommate has been crying.

Norma fears Chris is falling in love with her married employer, BRAD LEX HART, proprietor of an advertising agency. The older girl refuses to tell what is troubling her.

Next day Norman inserts an advertisement about the puppy in the lost and found column of the Marlboro Press. The first person to call in response to this advertisement is Mark Travers, who explains he has made every effort to learn her identity. He tries to make a date but Norma declines his invitation coolly. Travers departs and later makes a telephone call.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII

Farrell did not turn to look at the girl. His hat brim was snapped down squarely and in the darkness she could not see his face. The couple's speed increased and something in the road sent them jolting from their seats before he answered.

"I'm taking you home!" he said firmly. Norma had never heard him use that tone. Bob Farrell had kissed her before but never as tonight. "Wait a minute—" he went on immediately. "Before you start telling me what you think of me there's a little piece of news you might be interested to hear. Didn't mean to spring it as soon but I might as well. I'm pulling out of Marlboro."

Norma forgot that she was indignant. She could not conceal her amazement.

"You don't mean you're going away?" "That's exactly what I do mean."

"But, Bob—I where are you going?" "What's happened?"

"Nothing's happened. I'm going away, that's all."

She did not know what to say. After a few moments she said, "You haven't told me where you're going yet."

"No."

"Bob Farrell, what in the world's the matter with you tonight? First you get like a crazy man. Then you say you're going away and get mysterious about it. Why don't you tell me where you're going and for how long?" "I'll tell you," Bob promised. They had been driving along a sequestered road, a short-cut back toward a highway leading into the center of the city. "I'll tell you before I leave," he repeated, "but it's going to be for quite a while. You see I'm not coming back."

"Do you mean you're giving up your job? Oh, Bob, you're not—you're not leaving because—"

"Well, no. I'm not fired if that's what you mean," he interrupted, correctly interpreting the girl's thought. It isn't anything like that. I just think it will be a good thing to get out of Marlboro, that's all. Tired of the place!"

"But you've been doing so well, Bob!" "Can't see it that way."

There was little more conversation between them until they halted before the red brick apartment. As Farrell for an effective budget could be found than the inexcusable extravagance and waste of the last General Assembly. The first thing a budget should do would be to restrict the legislature as to expenditures for its own operation. The last House alone wasted a quarter of a million dollars for an army of useless clerks. A budget board with power to act could have saved this amount to the taxpayers.

It is certain that there is a pronounced movement in Missouri to bring down the cost of government and this probably can best come through a efficient and an effective budget board.

brought the coupe to a stop the girl sought his eyes.

"Bob," she said quietly, "do you really mean that you're—going away?"

Solemnly he nodded.

"I'm sorry, Bob."

"You mean you don't want me to leave?"

"Of course I don't. We've been such good friends, I'll miss you dreadfully." The young man darted a swift, appraising glance at her. Whatever he may have had in mind to say was checked. There was a pause. Then he answered carelessly. "Well, the deal isn't quite worked out yet. I'll give you a ring one of these days before I clear out. Well—we'll sort of celebrate the occasion."

Norma felt that he was keeping something from her. She was dissatisfied with the way the evening had turned out and very soon told him good night.

"Maybe he isn't going away at all," she said to herself a little later after she had turned the lock for the night, undressed and stood before the mirror brushing out her hair—the nightly 50 strokes on either side. "Maybe he's just trying to get me to beg him to stay!"

When she let herself out of the apartment next morning, there was nothing whatever to indicate that the hours before her were to constitute a red-letter day.

The street car which transported her to Broad and Hanover streets was as crowded as usual. The hours of dictation and transcribing Mr. Cunningham's letters were exactly as tedious. Even the interruptions were customary routine.

And then at 11:45, her usual lunch hour, Norma Kent put on her little black hat at the becoming, tilted angle, dusted her nose and chin with a small powder puff and rode down to the first floor in the elevator.

She went out on the street, turned the corner at the right on her way to the sandwich counter where almost daily she lunched.

With faint annoyance she became aware that a figure was keeping step beside her. Norma walked more rapidly. The figure quickened to the same degree. Suddenly the girl stopped and looked up. She opened her mouth but the words did not come. Flaming red circles appeared in each of Norma's cheeks.

So it was Mark Travers who spoke first. He touched his hat. "How do you do, Miss Kent," he said. "Beautiful day, isn't it? I was wondering how long it would be before you decided to send me about my business. You're not going to do it, though. Lunching alone is so tiresome. You're lunching with me today. Where are we going?"

The dark eyes laughed at her. The tone of voice was amused. For the lift of her Norma could not muster an indignant reply. It was all she could do to quell the surge of eagerness in her heart. Mustn't let him know how she felt about seeing him again!

"Sorry I can't accept the invitation," she told him demurely. Why those prim words when her own eyes were dancing?

"Did I invite you anywhere? Wasn't aware of it. Oh, no—you're mistaken. I'm lunching with you."

"But—but Mr. Travers—I—"

"Name is Mark, Miss Kent. Didn't I tell you? Sorry about the oversight. Well, shouldn't we be going? Really I'm hungry."

"Mr. Travers, you can't—I—the girl began and once more he interrupted. "Can't eat? Oh, how you wrong me! I assure you that you're mistaken. By means of a simple demonstration I will or all time convince you the impression is erroneous. I can—and do—eat three daily. I eat such things as ham and eggs but never pumpernickel. My particular about that! Were you thinking of making your luncheon on pumpernickel? If so we must change that!"

He was ridiculous—too, too completely ridiculous to keep anyone with the slightest sense of humor from laughing. And Norma had a sense of humor; she laughed and her defenses were gone instantly.

"I'm lunching at the Samovar," she told him. "If you don't mind going here you can come along. They only serve salads and sandwiches."

"How about mustard?"

"Of course—if you ask for it."

"Then away to the Samovar!" Young Travers tucked the girl's arm under er his. He kept her amused all the way to the eating place. There they found chairs at a counter painted bright blue. They ordered coffee and toasted sandwiches and fresh fruit. Travers was entertaining. Norma had never met anyone with whom it was so easy to feel at home.

"Just a minute!" she interrupted his discourse. "Would you mind telling me how in the world you are? Aside from rescuing stray puppies and trailing defenseless working girls what do you do?"

She had expected an answer as ridiculous as the youth's earlier remarks. Instead he said seriously, "Oh, I've got a job in a real estate office down the street."

"Really? What do you do?"

"Errands mostly. And trying to make columns of figures come out right. But let's not talk about me. Let's talk about you."

It was as though horizons had cleared miraculously. "Why," the girl laughed, "do you know what I thought? I thought you were a sort of rich society play boy! Honestly I did."

"No!" Hearty bass laughter joined her treble. "You—you really thought that about me?"

The girl nodded. "Maybe it was because of your car." She went on. "It's such a beauty. How—I mean if you're only a real estate clerk how—"

"Oh, the car!" Travers shrugged. "That's—that my uncle's. You see, my uncle's an automobile salesman and he uses that car for demonstration. Sometimes he lets me take it out for an evening. Say—if I could get it tonight would you go for a drive? I'm not sure he'll let me have it—"

With swiftly beating heart Norma agreed. Travers was to telephone her at home as soon as he found out if it would be all right with his uncle about taking the car. He seemed rather certain that it would be but promised to telephone around six o'clock.

Suddenly Norma looked at the clock and saw that it was after 12:30. She must be back at her desk at 12:45. They walked down the street together and he left her at the entrance of the gray stone building in which the firm of Brooks, Welliver and Brooks had their offices.

The roadster belonging to Mark Travers' "uncle" made its appearance before the red brick apartment house that night. It was there the following evening as well. During the next six days Norma met Travers for luncheon five times. She danced with him, dined with him, sat beside him through moving picture performances at which she never listened to the actors' lines nor observed their actions. She accompanied him on drives of breath-taking happiness through the September night.

He seemed to blossom with a radiance that made her lovelier than ever before.

Bob Farrell telephoned twice but Norma was not at home and did not receive his messages. Chris Saunders, satisfied that affairs were going smoothly now for Minnie Baker and her baby, packed their belongings and returned to the third floor apartment.

Norma scarcely spoke to Chris. The younger girl was preoccupied seldom at home.

And then one evening Chris Saunders leaving herself into the apartment at a little after 11 o'clock, paused stock-still on the threshold. Across the room in a miserable little huddle on the davenport lay Chris' roommate.

"Why, Norma! What's happened?" A blond head, wildly disarrayed, raised. Blue eyes that were red-rimmed and swollen gazed at Chris. Norma said in a frightened, choking voice, "It's—it's about Mark!"

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press

New York.—Bruce Baimfather, English cartoonist, and his wife, Cecile, have made up. The reconciliation occurred just as Supreme Court Justice Glennon was about to sign the interlocutory divorce decree granted Mrs. Baimfather. In her suit she named Constant Collier, English actress.

Paris, Tenn.—Mayor and Mrs. Frank McNeill are living happily together again after a separation of two weeks. The mayor, who is 65, left his 16-year-old wife after a quarrel, declaring he was through with married life. Before she became Mrs. McNeill a year ago, Polly was a waitress.

Montreal.—Er. James Penton, medical officer of the Royal Borough of Kensington, Eng., thinks women are better able to meet the demands of maternity than ever. Exercise, lack of restraining garments and general bodily activity have wrought the change.

Rio de Janeiro.—Olga Storch of Cangassu, Rio Grande Do Sul, has doctors puzzled. She has been asleep for three months. Although her slumber seems to be normal, efforts to awaken her have been of no avail.

East Hampton, N. Y.—Carroll Livingston Walnwright has issued invitations to a party. The spring tides ruined his summer home so debutantes and others have been asked to wear overalls and come to his barn for a "flying high and financially low" dance.

20 Looking Back Twenty Years 20

While Alderman F. C. Conrad and Cashier Lou Denny of the City Water company were examining the stand pipe Monday they came on a nest of owls of rather unusual appearance. They secured two of the young owls and they are now on exhibition in the clothing store window of Barney Flarris, who is president of the Owls lodge of this city. The birds are of light cream and tan color and are said to be valuable. They have a monkey-like face and are said to be prairie owl sometimes found in the northern states.

B. L. Holt returned Saturday night from a three months' stay in the northwestern part of Colorado on his farm. Mr. Holt brought back with him several specimens of minerals that are being mined on the Holt farm in Colorado. As yet nothing much has been done with the property, but it promises to be a rich one for the owner.

Owner Jack Holland of the Drummers at St. Joseph announced last night that he has secured three youngsters, an infielder, a catcher and a pitcher, out of the Mink league, and that they would all report to the St. Joseph club at once. He could not give out the names of the players last night, as the deal for them would not be completed until this afternoon. He is certain of getting them, however.

The members of Company F. have purchased a Lorraine planola from the Field-Lippman company of this city. It was installed in the armory Monday evening.

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Green of the Harmony neighborhood left Tuesday for Kahoka, Mo., to attend the Missouri annual conference of the Methodist churches. Rev. Green is pastor of the Harmony church, and it is the unanimous wish of the members and entire community that he be returned to his work. The appointments will probably be known by Saturday night.

H. P. Childress and his son, Charles Childress, have purchased a handsome new Ford five-passenger touring car. No one in the family will enjoy the car more than Mr. Childress, sr., and his wife. Mr. Childress is recovering from a severe trouble with his eyes as a result of blood poisoning in one of his hands. He had not been sick a day before in all his life of 78 years, and it is no wonder he wanted to celebrate his recovery from the first pain to have ever suffered by buying a new automobile.

$850,000 in Gold Will Be Recovered From Wrecked Ship

San Pedro, Calif., Sept. 15.—(P)—Upon the lives of a cat and dog—the only living creatures aboard the wrecked Panama mail liner Colombia which went on the reefs of Santa Marguerita Island Saturday night—depends the legality of claims to gold bullion worth $850,000 reported held in the strong room of the liner.

Under Mexican law a ship is not formally abandoned until every living thing has been taken off it. Captain Theodore K. Oaks, skipper of the Colombia, was reported to have left the cat and dog aboard to establish his company's claim to the wreckage, which lies off the coast of lower California.

Meanwhile, the salvage tug Peacock was speeding to the scene to retrieve the bullion and other cargo.

Panama mail company officials expressed little concern over the safety of the bullion which was consigned from Central American ports to California banks. They said the bullion was in the strong room.

Passengers, officers and crew of the wrecked liner taken aboard by the United Fruit Company's liner La Perla are due to arrive at Los Angeles tomorrow morning. They number 234.

Business Manager Gets Shock.
Clarence Woolsey, business manager of the 1931-1932 Tower, recently received a shock when he discovered that the fingerprints of the business manager of the College have cut a considerable trench in the desk in front of the office window.

Here Mr. "Rick" meets all comers, and nervously tap, tap, taps away with his fingers, as he argues his cause of saving money and keeping down expenses, with faculty members, students and others who seek him out in connection with College business matters.

Students See Colorado.
Dan Blood, and Norval Saylor, seniors in the College, together with Orlo Smith, former S. T. C. student now teaching at Ridgeway, and Gordon Trotter, B. The group visited Estes Park, Colorado Springs, Boulder, Greeley, Pueblo, Denver and other points of interest, enjoying the mountains and camp life.

MARKETS

Corn Advances and Other Grain Prices Are Firm

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(P)—Enlarged buying in which mills took an active part led to material upturns at times in wheat prices today. Confirmation that breadstuff crops in eastern Europe were seriously damaged had a stimulating effect. Furthermore, preliminary receipts of domestic wheat showed a decided falling-off, amounting to only 5,441,000 bushels today, compared with 5,441,000 a week ago.

Wheat closed irregular, at ½¢ decline to ½¢ advance, corn ½¢ to 1½¢ up, oats at ½¢ to ¾¢ gain, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 2c.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(P)—Wheat averaged lower and corn higher early today. Weakness of Argentine exchange had a bearish effect on wheat. Receipts of corn were meager, only 33 cars in Chicago today against 167 a week ago.

Opening at ½¢ off to ½¢ up, wheat afterward held near the initial range. Corn started at ½¢ decline to ½¢ advance and later rose all around.

Rallies which developed in wheat prices after an early dip were associated with bullish reports about the French wheat crop and with sharply reduced estimates of the yield of rye in Poland. A leading unofficial authority estimated France's carryover stock of wheat at only 10,000,000 bushels, the lowest in history. Tending further to lift wheat was comment that the United States wheat visible supply total had passed the season's peak. A steady reduction of the total was looked for in the future, as only once in the last ten years has an increase been shown after the supply started to diminish.

Strength of September delivery attracted special notice in the corn market. Improved cash demand for oats was apparent.

Provisions reflected downturns of hog values.

Gandhi Demands Complete Home Rule For India

That Nation or Britain Should Be Able to End Partnership at Will.

Strives For Agreement

But Indian Leader Says Any Concessions Must Be Consistent With Fundamentals of Independence.

London, Sept. 15.—(P)—Mahatma Gandhi today presented to the federal structures committee of the Indian Roundtable Conference his demand for home rule and self-determination in India.

Speaking for that teeming mass which he has characterized as "India's dumb millions," he declared that he had come to London in a spirit of cooperation and that he was determined to strive to the utmost for an agreement. "If at any time he finds that he is not serving a useful purpose, he said he will withdraw from the conference. In what was perhaps the most important speech he has ever made, he demanded complete self-government for India and granting of all the other conditions enumerated in the Karachi Mandate given him by the Nationalist of India.

Wants Full Partnership.

India, he said, is willing to remain a partner in the British Empire, but that partnership must be such that it may be terminated at the will of either party.

"If God wills," he said, "it will be the permanent partnership, but at the same time, the right to terminate the association will constitute a real test of the equality of position enjoyed by both partners."

Grows Highly Eloquent.

The rest of the delegates sat in silence while this frail person who looked like a medieval crusader in his white robes developed his case point by point rising at times to an eloquence which seemed to surprise even his own adherents.

"At first I hesitate to press India's case at a time when England herself is faced with such grave domestic problems," he said, "but those very problems may have a special importance in adjusting the settlement of the Indian question, because if two great countries stand together as equals they certainly will be better able to help each other in solving the problems which beset them."

Then he read the mandate given him at Karachi. "It is the Nationalists' cornerstone of Indian freedom, demanding the abolition of restrictions which they assert have been imposed upon them in many spheres. He explained that he had been invested with discretion to make adjustments or concessions, but he asserted that "these must be consistent with the fundamentals of Indian independence which I have laid down."

Minneapolis, N. Y., Sept. 15.—(P)—District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards extended an offer of immunity today to the younger of the two "pirates" Mrs. Benjamin Collins says threw her husband into Long Island sound, if the youth would come forward and give information concerning the elder of the pair.

Bandits Rob Risk Firms

Two St. Louis Life Insurance Offices Held Up.

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—(P)—Three masked men, armed with pistols, held up the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. branch on the second floor of the Lowell Bank Bldg., here shortly before noon today and escaped with $5,000 in cash after holding some 20 employees and customers at bay for several minutes. They fled in an awaiting automobile driven by a fourth man.

About the same time two men held up two women employees of the Western and Southern Life Insurance Co. on the second floor of the Langan & Taylor Bldg., looted the cash drawer of $383, and fled after making the women go into a washroom. They over-looked $200 in another drawer.

A short time after the two hold-ups, a robber snatched a package containing $1,400 from Marian Pfleger, 22, cashier of the Prudential Life Insurance company, but the man, who said he was Everett Dickens, 26, of St. Louis, was captured by Policeman Walter Bellar.

Independence, Mo., Sept. 15.—(P)—Three unmasked men robbed the state bank of Levasy, Mo., of $2,075 this morning and escaped in an automobile driven southward. Levasy is 12 miles east of here. Two men entered the bank while the third remained outside in the motor car.

Property Damage in Mexican Hurricane Is Large; Several Killed

Mexico City, Sept. 15.—(P)—Heavy property damage and some loss of life were reported today as the result of a hurricane which swept the southern half of the lower California Peninsula Saturday and Sunday.

Jumble-Lations

A Maryville man recently put in a very busy day. . . He worked hard all day transacting some business in Kansas City and arrived in Maryville at 9 o'clock. . . At 10 o'clock he took his wife to the hospital, and at 12:20 he became the proud papa of a boy. . . He is not related what he did next, but we presume he has been busy ever since. . . A bumper crop of green caps is likely to make his appearance soon as the upperclassmen begin fulfilling their educational obligations toward the Freshmen. . . The hot winds Sunday blew nobody any good as far as we have been able to learn. . . In fact the wind and heat prevented Maryville golfers from going to Albany as planned, and reports have it that they missed a fine feed the Albanians had prepared for them. . . The early reports of one kind of disaster never seem to be exaggerated; these hurricanes always take a larger toll than is thought at first. . . To wear or not to wear a raincoat was the problem yesterday. . . If you were a raincoat you almost smothered and if you didn't you got decidedly wet.

Three Fliers on Trip From Europe Are Long Overdue

Men Were on Non-Stop Flight From Portugal to New York.

Sighted Near Halifax

Steamer Reported Seeing Machine Yesterday Afternoon—May Have Landed in Remote Place in Canada.

Keene, N. H., Sept. 15.—(P)—A large airplane flying high and heading toward New York was seen over this city at 12 noon E. S. T. However, three hours later reports from New York said no such plane had arrived and the one seen here could not have been the ocean plane.

New York, Sept. 15.—(P)—Fear for the safety of two Germans and a Portuguese who took off from Lisbon, Portugal, on a non-stop flight to New York arose today as their gray monoplane was overdue.

Tempered with fear was the realization that the plane might have come down at some remote place in the maritime provinces of Canada. The fliers took enough fuel, by their own estimate, to last 48 hours. That hour was up at 5:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, today.

Christian Johannsen, German war flier, Will Rody, 25-year old German and owner of the plane and Fernando Costa Viera, Portuguese sportsman, were sighted at 1:40 p. m., Eastern Standard Time yesterday by the steamship Pennland, about 395 miles from Halifax.

To reach New York it had to go 1,100 miles farther. It should have arrived at 2 a. m., standard time, today. The plane has no radio.

London, Sept. 15.—(P)—Unrest in some sections of the navy personnel because of pay cuts recommended in the government economy program was reported in an admiralty statement today. The admiralty statement said: "The senior officer of the Atlantic fleet has reported that promulgation of reduced rates of naval pay has led to unrest among a section of the lower ratings."

In consequence of this he has deemed it desirable to suspend the program of exercises of the fleet and to recall the ships to harbor while investigations are made into representations of hardships occasioned by certain of the cuts in pay in order that these may be reported for the consideration of the board of admiralty.

Kansas Convicts Planned to Kill Six Men, Escape

Plot Is Nipped by Seizure of Firearms and Ammunition.

Prisoners Well Armed

Three Shotguns and Pistol Had Been Manufactured in Prison Shop—Men Are All Desperate.

Lansing, Kan., Sept. 15.—(P)—A plot by nine convicts to kill three guards and three trustees and escape from the Kansas penitentiary in Warden Kirk Prather's automobile early today was frustrated by seizure of a cache of firearms and the rounding up of the plotters on the eve of the attempted break last night.

Prison officials in revealing details of the plot today said the conspirators had been placed in solitary confinement and might be kept there the rest of their lives.

All of the men involved are considered desperate and are serving life sentences or terms equivalent to life.

Find Several Firearms. Three shotguns and a pistol manufactured in the machine shop of the prison twine plant; a rifle, which had been smuggled into the penitentiary, and a quantity of ammunition was found in a cache hollowed out in the wall of the twine plant warehouse and sealed over with bricks and mortar. The fresh mortar led to the discovery.

Wilbur Underhill, received at the prison less than two weeks ago to serve a life sentence for the slaying of Merle Colver, Wichita policeman, was named as the leader of the plot. Underhill escaped from the Oklahoma penitentiary July 14, last.

Prison officials said the convicts had planned to make the break about 5:15 a. m., when the warden's car was driven into the grounds. O. M. Spencer, a guard in cell house No. 8, was to be the first victim.
